UNION HIGH SCHOOL

FOREWORD

We have chosen superstition as the theme of the Annual of Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-Six. Superstition influences many lives in some manner or form, and an influence so great is worthy of consideration as a theme. Scientific and social workers have labored diligently for years to denounce superstitious beliefs and modern propaganda. Perhaps there is no specific means of recognizing the insidious influence until the results are made manifest to all. The chief enemy of mankind is ignorance. God did not give us brains to be slavish followers of every variety of dope, swindle, fallacy and prejudice. The only antidote to this poison is deeper knowledge and wider horizons.

Alas! The world of old-time beliefs is crumbling and the youth of today is an important factor in the process. The die is cast; the book is written to be read now or by posterity. It may well wait a century for a reader—since Father Time has waited many years for a Senior Class that possesses a scientific attitude of mind towards Superstition.

DEDICATION

We dedicate the TI-U Annual of 1936, in general, to our reading public because you are our friends and give us sincere cooperation along all lines of school progress. We owe much to you.

We dedicate the TI-U Annual of 1936, in particular, to Mrs. Alice Gregg, a teacher who has given an unlimited amount of her talents and time to the students of Tigard Union High School, and who, by her unfailing help and cooperation, has helped to bring the standards of the school to its high degree of excellence.

We owe much to you.

A Gnarled Tree—a Dog—a Moon
Will the baying dog get it soon?
A superintendent—a faculty—and classes
Aim—to educate in great masses.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

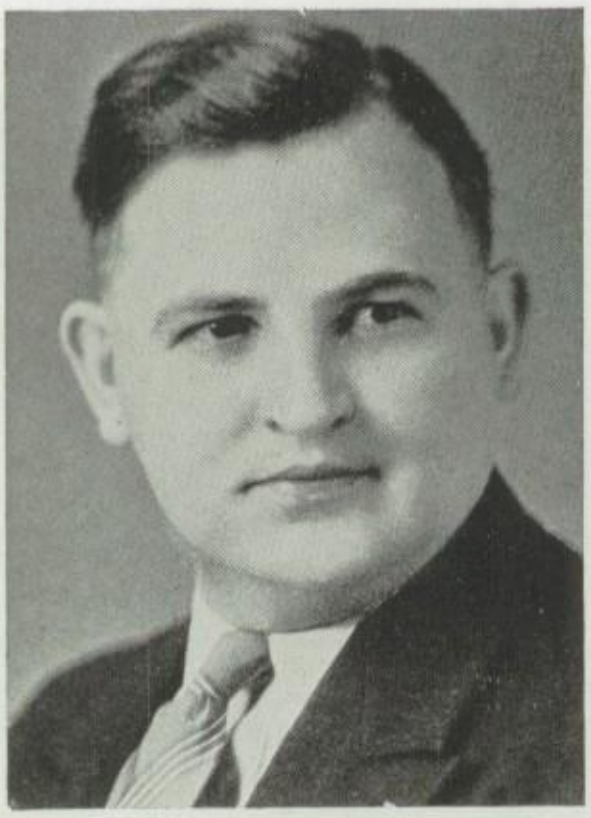
Dan A. Jones, Chairman	Tigard
H. E. Leedy, Clerk	Metzger
Fritz Elsner	Bend
H. E. Stewart	Metzger
M. S. Koopman	Durham
G. M. Leslie	Tigard

The Board of Education of Tigard Union High School is composed of five members. They represent the various districts which make up the union district.

These men are elected by the community to give their time to this work.

The Board meets regularly and discusses school affairs and activities, and acts upon them accordingly.

The faculty and student body have always found the Board to be friends and supporters of all progressive measures, and the Ti-U Staff is pleased to give recognition to our esteemed School Board.



SUPERINTENDENT FOWLER

Philosophers and scholars have told us for centuries on end that youth is the most exacting of all ages. He is old enough to respect his own desires and ideas, and to show incredulity toward the ideas of his elders. Nothing more need be said in making one realize the innumerable good qualities necessary in the character of the man who leads and carries on an organization of youths. He must not only be the judge, but the jury; and above that he must be an all-seeing diplomat, to whom age means nothing, and a student of human nature to correctly interpret the quirks of a student mind. Add to these necessities, those assets of geniality, good humor and true companionship, and the sum will show the personal equation; the man, the leader, the friend, all combined to make our Superintendent, Mr. Fowler. The Annual of 1936 desires to pay sincere tribute to the Senior's best friend.

OPPORTUNITY

"Master of human destinies am I,
Fame, love and fortune on my footsteps wait.
Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate
Deserts and seas remote, and passing by
Hovel and Mart and Palace-soon or late
I knock unbidden once at every gate!

"If sleeping wake; if feasting, rise before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate.
And they who follow me reach every state
Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
Save death; but those who doubt or hesitate
Condemned to failure, penury, and woe,
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore
I answer not, and I return no more!

WEIRD HISTORY

In September, nineteen thirty-two,
Sixty-nine imps of greenish hue
Entered this cavern at one time,
To learn the magic tricks sublime.
Tricks of figures, of speech, of charm.
Tricks, designed well, to disarm
Ignorance, and it's results.
Then each and every imp exults
When he overcomes his fear,
And passes his subjects of the year.

The second year was not so bad
As the previous one they'd had.
Their green complexions were not so bright.
This fact filled them with glad delight.
So self-importance reigned each mind
As it does with youth so blind.
Yet self-improvement helped them all
In coming through without a fall.
So they passed the grade anon,
And another year was gone.

The next term saw them back again,
Studying magic, not all in vain,
Although a few things bothered them,
Things that they would feign condemn:
The irksome ghost of Will Shakespeare
In English class would oft appear.
And dreaded Caesar's wraith was seen
By Latin students dull or keen.
But all their classes they attend,
And soon the year was at an end.

Now came the final year at last.
It came so slowly, yet so fast.
Our "imps" now had another name
"Seniors"—a word denoting fame.
All their tricks they'd mastered well.
For Ignorance they'd tolled the knell.
Ambition, courage, without duress,
Filled their thoughts with eagerness.
Sixty-nine craftsmen, tried and true,
Bidding the cavern a fond adieu.

THE PHANTOM WILL

Through the wind-driven, rain swept night, three figures crept furtively toward an apparently vacated hut far off the beaten path. Silently, the leader stepped to the fore and beat a curious tattoo upon the door of the hut. His hands no sooner left the sill than the door opened steadily and silently, and a muffled figure, all in black, motioned quickly for them to enter. Swiftly they obeyed, and the door closed silently, ominously; leaving them with a muffled old man.

The room was oppressive, dark, and yet filled with an ethereal light which made objects visible while apparently in darkness. And such objects! Crystals, huge tables, and, situated as though for decoration, replicas of black cats and bats, realistically settled in attitudes of repose.

Silently the old man motioned the three to seats around a fancifully carved table.

"My friends," came his voice, "you need not tell me your object for visiting here. That, I already know. You wish to talk to the deceased, the class of '36, which has passed out of the life of high school. You wish to know of any assets to which you might fall heir to. Verily, it shall be." The voice faded, the taloned hand of the man softly touched the images on the table, and instantly the room clouded with a suffocating atmosphere. A voice, powerful, permeating, and apparently coming from no direction whatever, smote upon them.

"Hello, classmates of Tigard. There are many things left you by this deceased one, which will do you many good turns in the future. Listen carefully, that you might hear everything of value. We hereby leave you:

"Sportsmanship, a requisite throughout life, of as high a standard as the moonlit night is silver.

"Purity of soul and mind to face a problematical world, without wavering from the straight and narrow into the black and unknown realms of deception and guile.

"Youth and vigor, for we hope you will always remain young, and as active as the effortless movement of phantoms.

"Courage ot the strongest type, to confront and overcome the mysteries of life as true act overcomes superstition.

"Independence of body and spirit, so you may depend on self, not on some deceiver, whose mind could well be compared to the crooked and abysmal confines of a Chinese dungeon.

"Courtesy of spirit and action, for life is a matter of appearance and action, and not to be judged partially in the direction of superstition and presumptive thought on spiritualism.

"Will, to carry you through danger, and face the doubtful and treacherous chasms of life.

"Intelligence; for poor is the man who knows not right from wrong, and who knows not how to pick true facts from the boundless buncombe of life.

"Love—above all, love and devotion, for a friendless life is a prison. Even the hideous bats and witches of the night would pine away and die without companionship."

The voice paused, and the suffocating atmosphere of the room, in some inexplicable way, seemed fading away. Again the voice came, but it was low and infinitely far in the distance. "Cherish these assets, you of Tigard Union High School, for without them life would be as dead as the dawn-ridden spirits. Again I repeat, retain these inheritances, for hidden in them are treasures of boundless dimensions, waiting to be found. Now, I regretfully leave you. My life is yours no more; the spirit of the Senior Class of 1936 has spoken."

DEBUNKING THE BUNK OF SUPERSTITION

Superstition is the theme of the Annual of '36
We firmly believe that intelligence and superstition will not mix.
American youths are too clever to be fooled by bunk,
So the cry arises, "Down with all superstitious junk."
Absurd beliefs are handed down from the dark past,
Until they become fixed notions that often last.
We often hear chatter about a black cat,
A horse shoe, four leaf clover, such as that.
And there are those who pick up a pin,
And for a girl to take the last slice of bread is a sin.
And if your palm itches do you get money?
Such superstitious beliefs to us seem funny.
Our elders say lightning never strikes the same place twice.
The youth replies that the same place isn't there after it strikes once.
Mental telepathy is discredited by Youth.
It is merely coincidence, and not the truth.
Have you ever seen the ground hog on February the second?
The date on which the length of winter is so reckoned.
It is high prices that makes fish brain food, instead of meat,
And a square jaw means no more than big feet.
Andy Gump has an extremely receding chin.
Determination? Does he not say "No" to Min.
Some foretell the weather by sensitive teeth and corns,
But the weather man is still reading the barometer of morns.
Haven't you always thought that red hair means violent temper?
Science says blonds and brunettes also make us whimper.
We believe that the tragedy of "Othello" is terrible,
For it teaches evil and witchcraft to the rabble.
The Witches prophecy of Macbeth fame,
If forecast by you and I, results would be the same.
Your misfortune, your luck, was not caused by bunk,
Old beliefs can be discarded as so much junk.
You are not superstitious, neither are we,
But it will keep us working new ideas to see.

GOOD WISHES

The fellow who sits around waiting for his ship to come in is very likely to find himself the owner of a whole fleet of (hard)ships.—Mr. Fowler.

Congratulations to Every Senior.

The measure of success is the extent of the individual's service to humanity.

Sincerely,

Myrtle Mullen

Life is a learning and forgetting.—Wunderlich.

Congratulations, Seniors.

There is nothing so kingly as kindness, and nothing so royal as truth.—F. Weaver.

"There are no tricks to the plain and simple truth."—Ferne Boyles.

As the child is educated, the adult's inclined.—Glenn L. Linn.

To the Seniors of 1936.

May you retain the ardor and vitality, the confidence and the initiative, that you, as a class, have displayed throughout your high school career, and success is certain to be yours.—Miss Eickmeyer.

Congratulations, Seniors:

it is well to realize that nothing worth while is ever had for nothing. For skill, we pay with our effort. For failure, we pay with our sense of futility. Nature is just. Wishing you much luck and success.—Mrs. Elwert.

Your deeds count more than your words.—Coach Smith.

The world is a ladder for some to climb up and some to climb down. So, Seniors, keep right on climbing to greater success.—Christina Summers.

To the Seniors:

May every note in your "Song of Life" create a pure and everlasting harmony.

—Miss Nash

To know what we know, and know what we do not know—that is understanding.

Miss Johnson

Representing the student body, I give the Seniors my heartiest congratulations, and wish them the best of success.—Jack Blankinship.

My heartfelt thanks for a year of splendid cooperation and service, and best wishes for future happiness.—Joe Fowler.

Congratulations, good luck, and God speed you!—Boydell Nedry.

THE SENIOR CODE OF THREES

Three things to govern—temper, tongue and conduct.
Three things to cultivate—courage, affection and gentleness.
Three things to commend—thrift, industry and promptness.
Three things to wish for—health, friends, and contentment.
Three things to work for—security, independence and happiness.
Three things to admire—dignity, gracefulness and honesty.

Vol. IX TIGARD HIGH SCHOOL, MAY ??, 1936

'36 SENIORS WHIP ANNUAL JINX

SENIOR STUDENTS ON HONOR ROLL

Completing four successful years of high school, nine senior students have carved their names in the niche occupied by the honor students. Nine honor students from a class of 69 is a very good percentage, showing that, not only are the teachers of Tigard capable of instructing the students, but the students are capable of extensive study and concentration and have very satisfactorily finished their high school course. The students with excellent grades are: Alice Mulloy, Bob Barney, Jim Ersted, Louise Harrison, Eunice Gault, Nancy Gholson, Joe Fowler, Evelyn Sherk, and Margie Langer.

These honor students also represent a great number of students of the whole school to

COMMENCEMENT

With the end of the Commencement Services on May 29 the seniors place behind them the second milestone in the highway of life. Grade school was the first; high school, the second; and, if college is not to be the third, a direct road to the business world will be followed. They will then be on their own, to follow the highway as they like. They may proceed fast and recklessly, slow and fearfully, or moderately and

ANNUAL SALES

The 1936 Annual, as well as the '36 Seniors, will always have the distinction of having reached their quota, 200, on the day set to close the quota sales. Some last-minute campaigning in the auditorium by the class president brought forth the necessary two or three purchasers needed to put the sales over the top.

James Allison, by dint of hard work and excellent salesmanship, captured the awards given, by the large sum of 24 Annuals. The other Seniors cooperated splendidly, too, in securing the necessary subscriptions.

In order to carry out the theme of Superstition for the Annual, the date for the end of the sales contest was set for Friday, December the thirteenth: thus allowing 28 days for the ambitious Seniors to sell their lot.

The students also decided to award a banner to be used only by the classes reaching their quota on time.

IN MEMORY

The instructors of Tigard have been a great help to the graduating seniors during their school days, and they wish to use this opportunity to thank the teachers from the bottom of their hearts. The seniors will always cherish their friendship, and the aid they have given the

"Out of School Life Into Life's School" aptly expresses the ambitions of the seniors today and tomorrow. In high school, they have trained themselves commercially and in literature, receiving the fundamentals for their future schooling either in college or in Life's School. Some have learned an appreciation of literature; some, of music; and some, of drawing. Each of these will aid in relaxation or in overcoming some disappointment, unless these studies become vocations.

The seniors are well prepared for the future, each having made use of the advantages offered in high school.

PEP-BANNER

The Pep-banner, a perennial award, was won by the seniors at the football rally. After a day of hard labor by the freshmen, in a cold wind, the rally bonfire was stacked. However, that was only a portion of the activities. Each class practiced its stunt to be given on rally night, and the band was busy polishing the brass. At last, Hallowe'en Night, the eve of the Forest Grove game, arrived. The program consisted of a skit from each class, band pieces, and yells.

SUCCESS OF HI-SPOTS

For the first time since 1932, the students of Tigard published, semi-monthly their school paper known as the Hi-Spots. Under the skilled supervision of three advisors, Miss Boyles, Miss Weaver, and Mr. Linn, the publication proved successful in both a literary and financial sense.

The distribution of the four-page Hi-Spots was eagerly contemplated on every second Tuesday afternoon by approximately 190 subscribing members and non-members of the student body.

Several seniors took part in producing this paper, and the publication met with approval after having lain on the shelves for the past three years.

SENIOR BREAKFAST

It has been the custom each year for the teachers to give the seniors a breakfast on the Thursday before graduation. Although it has not been definitely decided to have one this year, if they do, it will be on the twenty-eighth of May. Teachers, forming various committees, will prepare the food for the breakfast, after which the students will be instructed in the ways of properly conducting themselves during the Commencement exercises.

SENIOR DANCES

The first Senior Dance was held in the high school gymnasium on October 25, the dancers filling the floor to capacity. The decorations carried out the Superstition idea of the seniors, and also agreed with the season, for it was very near to the time of ghosts and goblins, Hallowe'en. The walls were hung with black cats and witches riding brooms while the lights supported black and orange crepe streamers. Numerous pumpkins and apples lined the floor at the foot of the stage, giving the auditorium a very festive appearance. It is hoped that the second Senior Dance will equal the first.

The second Senior Dance will probably agree with its season, and be a sport dance.

IMPORTANT EVENTS

The important events of the year are:

PRECEDENTS SET

The Seniors have established many precedents to be upheld by future classes. They not only started an Annual Banner to be given to the classes who reach their quota on time, but they also reached their quota on time; thus being the first flass to get their name on the banner.

They furnished an editor and several assistants for the revival of the Hi-Spots, and started a Hi-Jinks Program to bring forth our talented students.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Several Oregon colleges, State Schools and Independent Universities alike, will award seven or eight scholarships to deserving '36 seniors. Those receiving scholarships must have excellent grades, and must make their applications in time enough to allow those awarded and not used or those unapplied for to be given to some deserving students, in either this high school or another.

To receive a scholarship is not only an honor, but it helps to defray college expenses and it gives one the business prestige of a diligent person.

SENIOR REUNION

The seniors have decided that as a body, they will assemble after graduation. The date set for the reunion is August 30, 1936, and the place is Roamers' Rest. A committee chosen from the class will send out invitations as reminders a few days before the reunion.

CHARGE OF THE FOOTBALL BRIGADE

Half a league, half a league,
Pass it—oh, pretty!
"Let's have another one!"
That's the crowd's ditty.

THE MYSTERY HOUSE

The senior class presented their first annual play, "The Mystery House," March 27, under the capable direction of Mrs. Mullen. The play was good and was declared a success from all points of view. It was a mystery comedy, having everything from a black cat to a very peculiar poet.

The leads were portrayed by Robert Barney, an author; Kathleen Ramsby his wife. Remaining characters were: Donald Hite, relative; Rorothy Upchurch, relative; Eunice Gault, relative; Melvin Jenkins, poet; Maxine Nixon, maid; Alva Harrington, executor; Jim Ersted, relative; and George Matsuura, taxi driver.

SENIOR JUNIOR PICNIC

The seniors are looking forward to the traditional Senior-Junior Picnic for this year, but, as ever, the final decision rests with the juniors. In former years, the picnic has been held at Oswego lake, with boating, swimming, tennis, hiking, and eating as the favorite sports. It is hoped that the tradition will be followed and Oswego lake will be selected as each graduating class seems to leave a pleasant memory there, which is felt by the following graduates.

OPERETTA

Tigard's Glee Club successfully presented their annual operetta May 15 titled "The Lucky Jade."

The characters were: Downs, Bob Moore; Mrs. Courtney, Lesta Gillihan; Liza, Kathleen Ramsby; Nancy and Jeanne, Babe Fish and Mary Jane Miles; Col. Waverly, Bert Sagers; Herbert, Bill, and Ted, Howard Hedrick, Carl Berlin, and Don Singletary; John Endicott, Don Hite; Mary Ann Courtney, Millie Becvar; Fanchon, Kathryn Ross; Mr. Courtney, Kenneth Owrey; Horace Ferguson, Joe Fowler; Sheriff, Marvin Finley; and a chorus consisting of the remainder of the glee club.

SPORTS

The 1935 football team had a very successful year, having won five games and lost only four. The coach had a number of good prospects for the season, with the return of most of last year's lettermen and second string. The players made an exceptionally good showing on the home field, and a good showing on other fields. The second team gained experience in several games called for them, and those returning give promise of a strong team for next year.

Closely following the football season came a successful siege of basketball, the Tigard team having a place at the top of the county list. This year's team has far excelled the previous year's team as a number of last year's players have returned to play as veterans. Being second in the county league entitles Tigard to a place in the county tournament at McMinnville.

Last year's baseball team won all but three games. The team was well-balanced and coordinated perfectly throughout the season. The baseball season was paralleled by the track season, Tigard being represented in this sport even though we had no meets.

ON HONOR ROLL

have their names placed on the periodic honor roll; as a matter of fact, their percentage is a good deal larger than those of other classes. They have managed to hold their own during four years of high school.

students will remain a valued asset to be used later in their pursuits.

HOME AGAIN HARRY

The second senior play, a three act comedy, entitled "Home Again Harry," was presented May 1, directed by Mrs. Mullen.

The plot developed around the mistaking of Stuart Worthington, fugitive bride groom, for Harry Lennon, author of "The Excruceating Sinner."

The cast included Nancy Gholson, Jack Blankinship, Evelyn Sherk, Joe Fowler, James Allison, Virginia Sims, Helen Vershum, Art Steele, Kathryn Ross, Robert Rue, Alice Mulloy, and Emanual Bectal.

STUDENT BODY TICKET SALE

The sale of student body tickets for this year met with great success. About eighty per cent of the student body purchased tickets, each class spurred on to the buying of more by the hope of winning the banner awarded for the class having the greatest percentage of sales.

The senior class was successful in winning the banner, as was last year's senior class, by a very large number of purchases. Some bought theirs in support of the school; others, to take part in sports.

DO YOU THINK?

So often young people of high school age or thereabouts will either accept a fact or make a statement without due thought and consideration. To them, this is preferable because to think demands energy, even as a strenuous sport requires both physical and nervous energy. An athlete doesn't go immediately into the field and take part in a sport, but he trains, builds, and educates his body to meet the demands to be later placed on it. So it is with the mind. Now, as a student, is the time to train the mind.

Quoting Ben Jonson, "I remember the players have often mentioned it as an honor to Shakespeare, that in his writing (whatsoever he penned) he never blotted out a line. My answer hath been, 'Would he had blotted a thousand'," but no one of today is a Shakespeare. One must weigh each remark, and study each decision.

Later, in business or home life, each student of today will be required to use his own judgment; but how many will there be whose decision is to be relied upon? It is up to you, "Do you think, are you going to learn how?"

TIGARD'S GHOST

Dear Friends, last midnight, whilst I read
Weird tales of vast surprise,
A spectre rose beside the bed
And spake in this true wise.
"From Utopia's beautiful coast
I've come to visit thee;
For I am Tigard's Ghost,
Says Tigard's Ghost to me.

I bade him welcome, and we twain
Discussed with bouyant hearts
The various things that appertain
To all the Senior Arts.
"Since you are fresh from Utopia's shore
Pray tell me of that most
Wondrous class of sixty-nine or more,"
Says I to Tigard's Ghost.

"The boys have entered into perfect rest;
For it is the life they've won.
There are no teachers to molest.
No under classmen there to dun.
Their joyous rapture has no bounds
Beside that Utopian sea,
It is a joy to hear sounds,"
Says Tigard's Ghost to me.

Much I rejoiced to hear him speak
Of Senior bliss so rare
For I am one of those who seek
Rest, without a daily care.
"But tell me, I long to know
What doth concern me most,
Are girls admitted there also?"
Says I to Tigard's Ghost.

"Women folks are few up there
For 'twere not fair, you know,
That the boys Utopian joy should share
Who vexed them here at school below
The few are those who have been kind
To boys so careless and blind.
They knew their faults, and didn't mind,"
Says Tigard's Ghost to me.

"To my dear friends I will recite
What things I have heard you say
About that Senior Class of might
Who dwells on other shores so gay.
A better class you cannot find
Will ever join the Utopian host,
They've earned rewards and things so kind."
Says I to Tigard's Ghost.

carefully, to make of themselves what they may.

Minds well-oiled, imagination well-greased, and a set of new ideas will carry them far upon the many new and broad highways which will be opened to them on the evening of Commencement.

FOOTBALL BRIGADE

Cheered on with shout and bell,
Nobly they played, and well,
Hear their supporters yell:
"Come on, the city!"

When shall their glory fade?
Toast them in lemonade,
Eighteen clear goals they made
While they were able;
Theirs not to reason why,
But pass the goalie by,
And get as high as high
In the league table.

NEW BUILDING

In keeping with the growth of the community and the increased enrollment of the student body, it has been necessary to make additions to our present building. The new addition is to be a gymnasium and auditorium with a full basement which provides for shower and locker rooms for the boys and girls. Ample space has been allowed for manual training, which is to be added to the course of study for this next school year. The new gymnasium and auditorium provide for a large stage, basketball court, and balcony. Permanent seats are planned for the north side of the basketball court.

The Junior class has successfully completed its third year at Tigard Union High School. The class has generously contributed to the athletic teams, to dramatic presentations, and scholarship.

The main event of the school year, the Junior Prom, was enthusiastically planned and presented with an additional feature, the coronation of a queen. This proved to be an interesting event which helped the dance net a profit. The class has worked diligently on the Hi-Spots, making the paper a real "high spot" in the school's activities.

The sophomore class of 1936 has shown unusual ability in athletics, and it was also well represented in many school activities. A good percentage of the student on the honor roll at the end of each six weeks were sophomores.

During the first part of the year, the sophomores sponsored a very interesting picture show, which everyone enjoyed. A successful skating party was also held. The sophomore class has willingly cooperated with all school activities, and has developed a splendid school spirit.

The Sophomore class, with its large number and varied talents, will be competent to carry on the traditional program always expected from a Junior class.

The Freshman Class of 1936 has distinguished itself by being the largest class ever to enter Tigard High School, with an enrollment of 130.

Despite a few trying days of initiation, which were climaxed by a royal welcome by the upper classes, the freshmen settled down to become a very important part of the student group.

LITTLE JOHNNY TIGARD

Little "Johnny Tigard" is come to our school to stay,
And pick the knowledge up, and brush his ignorance away.
And scatter the paper on the floor, and mark the desk, and sleep,
And enjoy the fire, eat his lunch, and never appreciate his keep.
And all us other pupils when our lessons all is done
We stand around the hallway and has the mostest fun.
A—listenin' to the hookey stories
Johnny tells about,
And he says the teacher will fail you,
If you don't watch out.

Johnny said there was a little boy
Wouldn't play the games fair,
And when he came to school one day,
Climbing up the stair.
The principal heard him holler,
And the coach heard him bawl,
And when they stepped out in the hallway
He wasn't there at all.
And they seeked him in the furnace room and laboratory and press,
And seeked him up the attic hole, and every where I guess.
But all they ever found was, his clothes all torn out,
And the school will lose you, if you don't watch out.

And Johnny said there was a little girl
Always laughed and grinned.
And made fun of everyone, an' all her teachers, an' sinned
And once when there was company
And lots of folks was there,
She mocked them and she shocked 'em,
And said she didn't care.
And chewed her gum, kicked her heels,
And turned to run, and hide.
There were two teachers standing by her side
And they bumped her head on the ceiling,
And the teachers will bump you
If you don't watch out.

And little Johnny Tigard says
When the teachers look at you,
And they begin to sputter and the wind goes woo-oo
And you hear the kids laugh
And know what they say,
And all the fun in you is all squelched away.
You had better mind your parents, and your teachers fond and dear
And cherish them that love you, and dry the salty tear,
Or the underclassmen will get you, if you don't watch out.

A Bat a bat for all of that
And he frolics at a nocturnal club.
Birds of a feather flock together.
So do boys and girls join the clubs.

The Girls' League of Tigard High School was organized in 1928 by Mrs. Gregg, who was our untiring advisor until her recent retirement from teaching; Mrs. Mullen, Mrs. Elwert, and Miss Weaver being the present advisors.

Every girl, upon registering in the school, automatically becomes a member of this organization, which is for the purpose of development in social, mental and physical fields, as well as for the promotion of friendship.

New articles of comfort and cheerfulness are added each year to the league room, which is equipped with medicine chest and furniture for the convenience of the girls.

Every month a business meeting is held, at which a program is given. During the year, the two main functions are the bazaar, which is held to raise funds for the league, and the mothers' and daughters' party, which was held February 12 this year as a Valentine feature.

This organization is very helpful to the girls, in that it gives them an opportunity to participate in activities, develops their abilities and encourage leadership.

COMMERCIAL TEAM

The Commercial Team is made up of shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping students. As usual, there has been much progress made in these studies.

Last year at the county contest, which was held at Behnke-Walker Business College, Tigard showed a high rating by winning eleven out of fourteen awards. Those participating were: Advanced—Doris Rahmig, Betty Leedy and Dorothy Johnson. Beginners—Margie Langer, Louise Harrison, and Dorothy Tetrick. At the state contest which was held at Corvallis, the team won first place, receiving a silver trophy and banner. Those participating were: Advanced—Doris Rahmig and Dorothy Johnson. Beginners—Margie Langer and Louise Harrison. Doris Rahmig won first place in speed for the advanced group, and Margie Langer won first place in speed for the beginning group.

The shorthand class has also shown much progress. Three national awards were won by Dorothy Martin, Louise Harrison, and Dorothy Johnson. This year in radio shorthand, Dorothy Martin won the only state award offered.

The Commercial Team has made splendid progress under the able leadership of Mrs. Elwert.

DELTA THETA CLUB

In every modern school, controlled recreation forms an intricate part of education. Student body programs, skits, plays, and speeches all go together to form a network of recreational events throughout the year. In schools of larger size, the student bodies can afford to hire skilled performers for many of their performances, but not so the smaller schools. They are dependent upon themselves for talent, and must use and develop this talent as it appears within the student body. Therefore, in Tigard High, as in many others, a dramatics class has been organized to develop and use school talent. The class studies the fundamentals of acting and presents numerous plays, skits, and features as experience and entertainment for others. The crowning feature of the year is a full evening's entertainment in th form of a 3-act play.

It is this dramatics class which forms the active body of a Delta Theta Club. They, along with former students, form the class club, which is not only interesting socially, but provide numerous free entertainments for the entire student body.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

President	Bob Barney
Vice-President . . .	Betty Selliken
Secretary	Mary Jane Upshaw
Treasurer	Max Miner
Reporter	Stuart Rhodes
Advisor	Myrtle Mullen

Talking has long been the ability of men as a means of communication, but during the last few centuries and especially, the last few years, the ability to speak well has taken on a different aspect. Speaking is the method used to settle personal and community quarrels in lawsuits, and now, may it last forever, is used by nations to avert war by arbitration. However, debate is just one of the uses of speech. Orations are powerful in swaying public opinion. It has long been a question concerning the relative strengths of the sword and the pen, but now, both are surpassed in the sweeping power of the spoken word.

In a lighter theme, drama gives us beauty and relaxation, prompted by the winning and skillful words of the expert dramatist. Add to this the joy of intelligent conversation and the reaping of better contacts, and the power of the spoken word is made clear.

To meet all these current demands, up-to-date high schools have developed a course of public speaking. This course teaches all the fundamentals of good speaking to students, that these students might have this one asset to face the hardships of the world. Skillful speaking is not a momentary influence; it will go on for time eternal. With this attribute in hand, may the students of the Public Speaking Club of 1936 be carried to untold heights by the ability evolved under the helpful environment of the club.

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout school and community, high standards of Christian character." This is the purpose of Hi-Y work. In its first year at Tigard, the Hi-Y club has enjoyed a successful year under the leadership of Mr. Fowler. It is designed chiefly as a service organized to the school and community. In its activities, the club works through the members as individuals. We hope that in the future the Hi-Y may carry on an even more extensive program in the service to school and community.

A great number of services, such as keeping the ground free from rubbish, providing receptacles for lunch papers, and extending help to underclassmen have been performed by members of the organization.

Collectively, the members sponsored a picture show, which netted splendid results financially.

The Hi-Y Club's ideals and principles are outstanding, and the organization should be encouraged in every school. Without an exemplary—Christian character, all other training goes for naught.

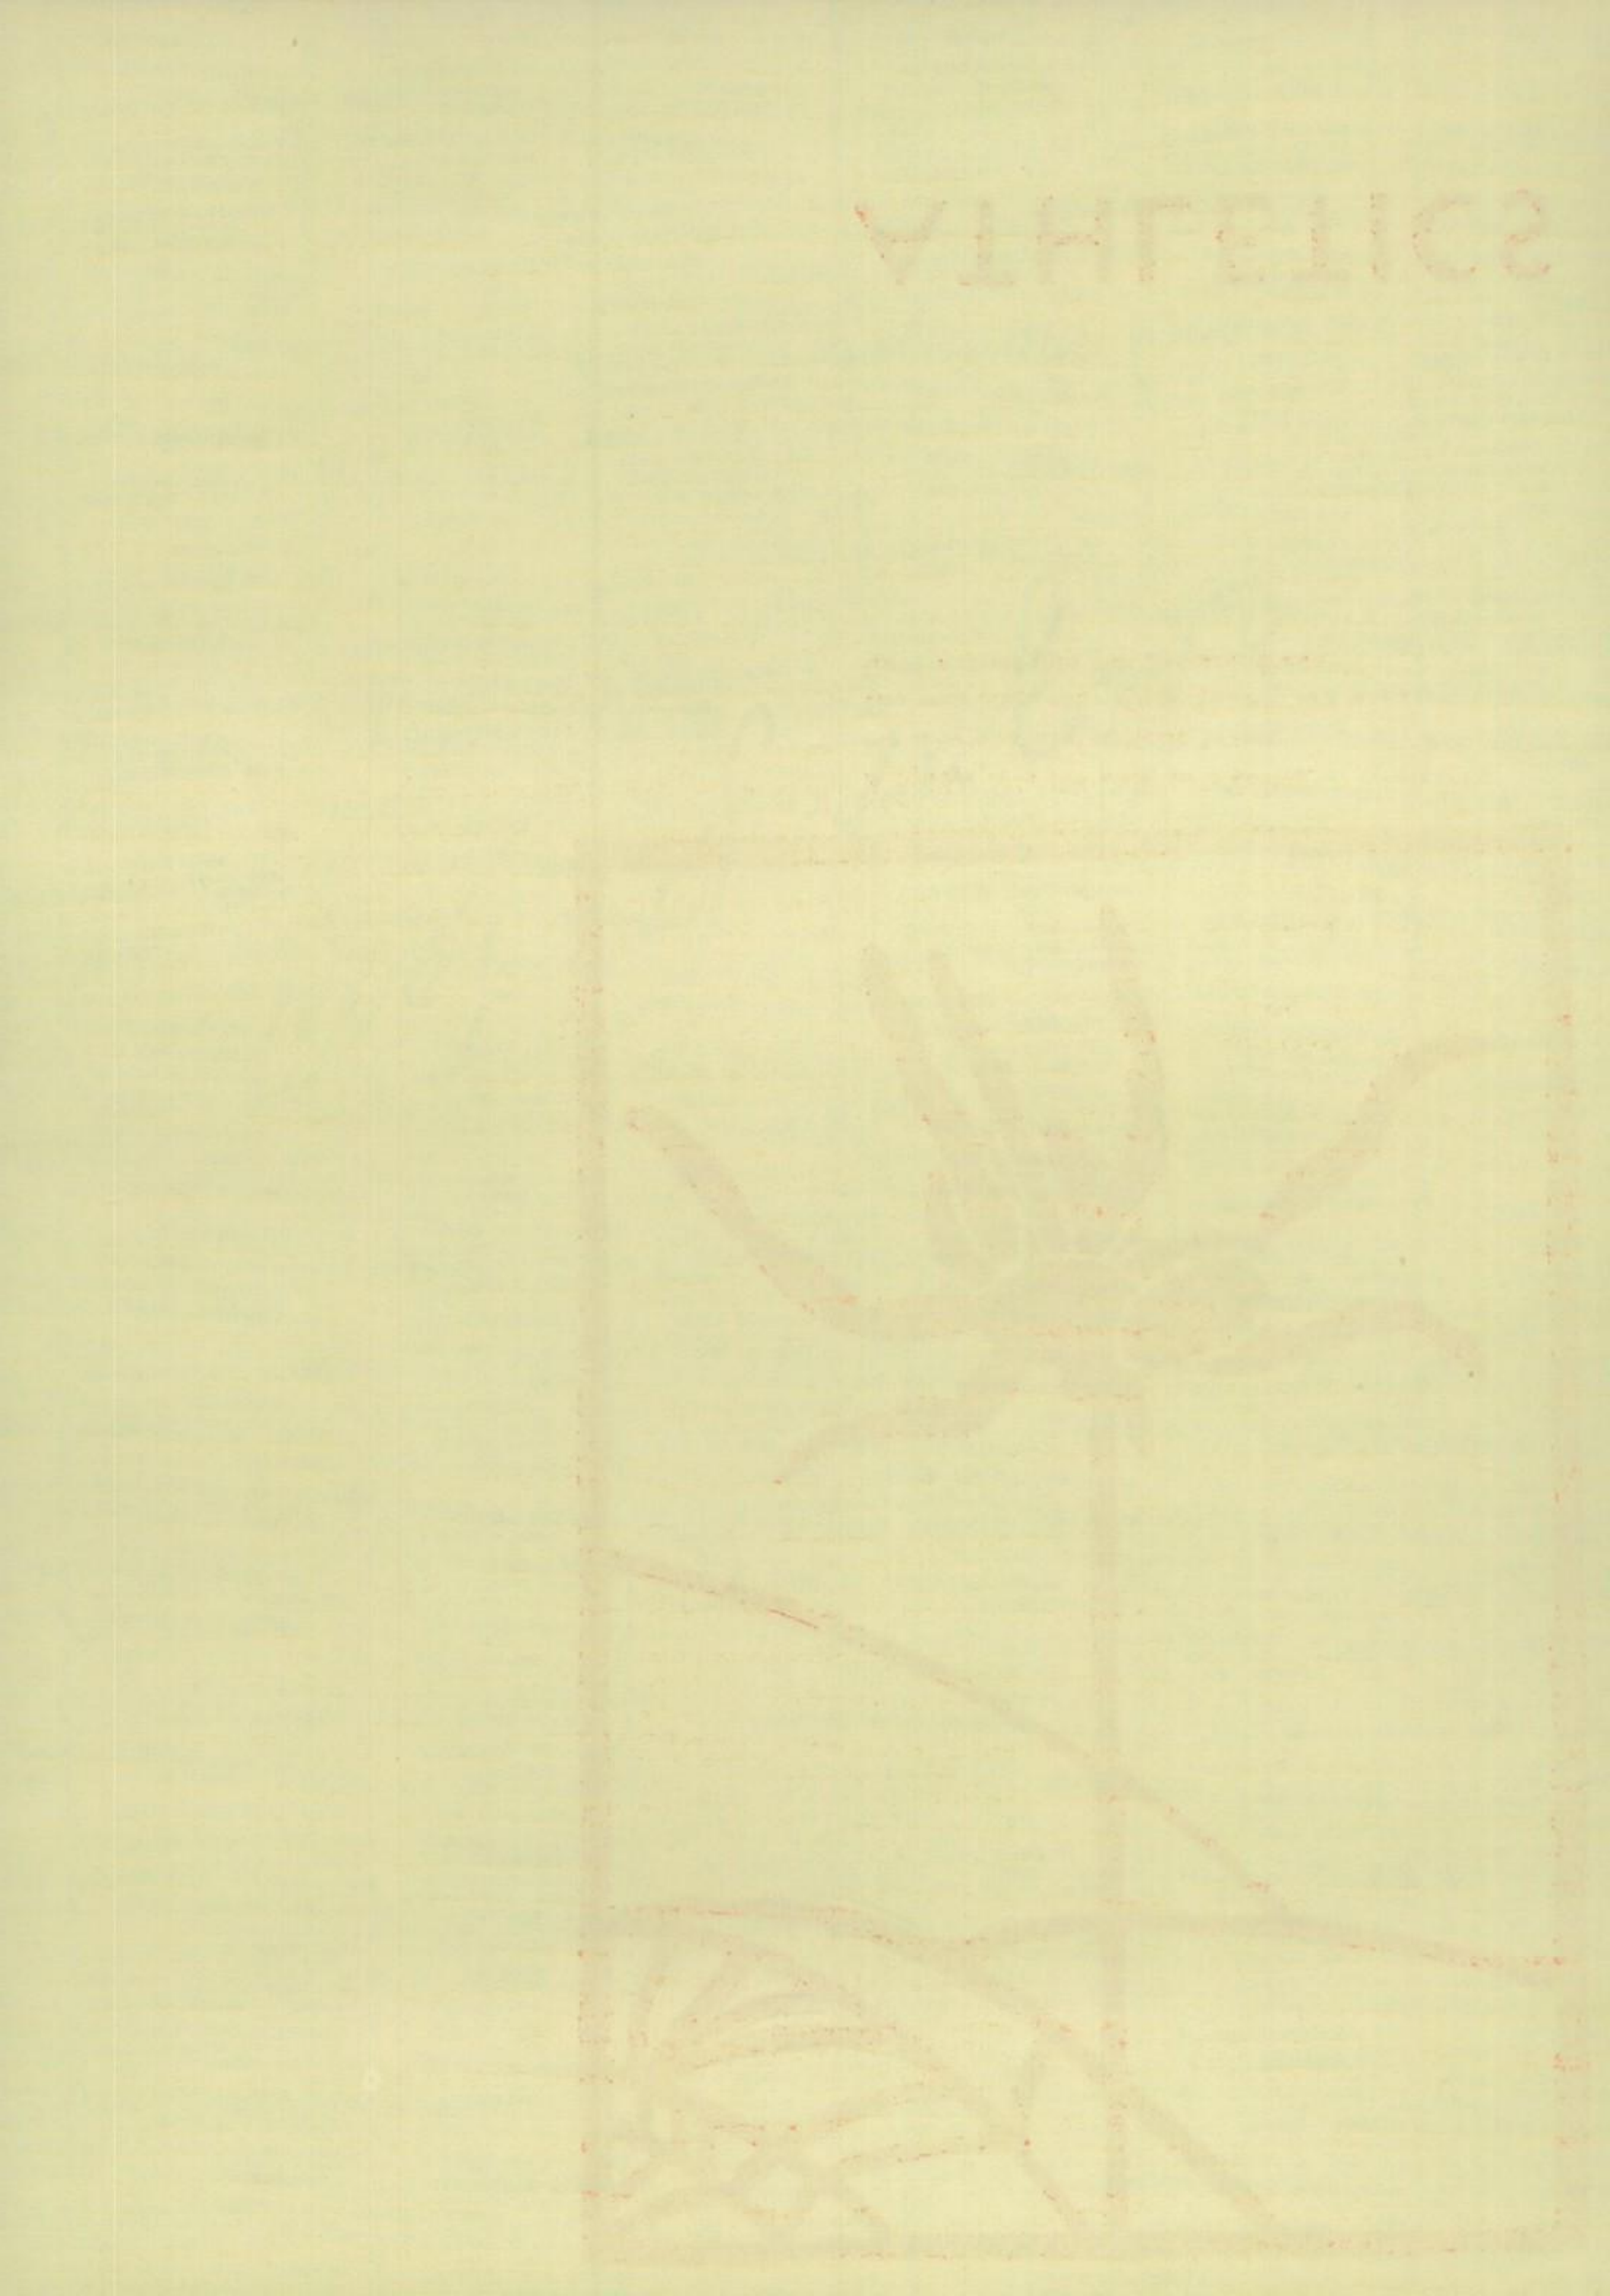
ATHLETICS



COACH SMITH

Educational experts have, for several years, agreed that athletics play an important part in modern education. They fill that certain niche of physical endeavor, of co-operation and team work, that is so necessary in the development of true manhood. The leader of athletics must be a teacher of ability to handle a course of study as well as to be an instructor of athletic requirements.

These requirements put a heavy responsibility on one man. Yet even more than this, the coach must stand criticism, and must have a personality to cope with all types of people. Words are inadequate to describe the type of man capable of holding such a position. It suffices to say that he is a real man. On behalf of the athletes of the school and the entire student body, the Annual of 1936 dedicates this page to Coach Smith, with sincere appreciation for his splendid leadership.

FOOTBALL

Coach Smith began the '35 football season with nine returning lettermen, and several good prospects.

The season's opening game was with St. Mary's, on the home field in a close, hard fought contest. The outcome was doubtful until the final whistle. St. Mary's won by virtue of a converted point, 7-6. Carson scored for Tigard on a 60-yard run.

With a large contingent of supporters to cheer them on, the reorganized Tigers journeyed to McMinnville to be turned back, 14-0. Even though this was the largest score against the Tigers in the entire season, in this game their potential power was very much in evidence. Both touchdowns were results of blocked punts.

Smarting undr the stigma of two successive defeats, Tigard outrushed Franklin Hi of Portland, 7-0. Hite, injured just before the game, was unable to play.

Primed to show the home-town their worth, Tigard ran rough-shod over St. Stephen's potential Big Nine champs, to the tune of 13-0. The outstanding feature of the game was Moore's punting.

On a cold, wind-swept field, Tigard's game, fighting Tigers were forced to swallow the bitterest pill of the entire season, a 7-6 defeat by the arch-enemy, Forest Grove. Outplaying their opponents, Tigard scored in the first half to lead 6-0. A momentary let-down in the third quarter allowed Forest Grove to score, and a conversion provided the margin of victory.

Playing on a rain-soaked, muddy field, Tigard coasted to a 19-0 victory over a light but fighting Newberg squad in the annual Armistice Day game.

Outplayed by a heavier Hillsboro eleven, Tigard was defeated 13-0, but despite the size of the score, Tigard held the powerful Hilhi offensive in check until the final quarter. The last touchdown was made in the final second of play, due to an intercepted pass. This was the only contest in which the Tigers were outplayed.

Journeying to Estacada, Tigard easily defeated an inexperienced but game Estacada team, 32-0. The second string played most of the last quarter, and nearly succeeded in scoring. Hughes, former Tigard student, was outstanding for Estacada.

In the annual Thanksgiving classic with Beaverton, nine seniors and three juniors inflicted upon Beaverton the worst defeat ever handed the Orange and Black by Tigard. Showing power in every department, Tigard scored 18 points to Beaverton's none. This made the score 2 to 1 in Smith's favor over Warren of Beaverton, old time college rivals. Past scores 6-0, 0-7.

Tigard scored 101 points to their opponents' 41, and won five out of nine games, making it a very successful season. The outstanding strength of the line is attested by the fact that Tigard placed all the men on the left side of the county all star team's line. Carson, backfield ace, and one of the county's leading scorers, was the fourth member of the squad to gain all county honors. Moore, Podbelian, and Quinn, were the linemen who placed. Steele, Tigard's stalwart center, was given first choice on the county all-star second string.

At the annual banquet after the season, Arthur Steele was elected honorary captain of the team.

1st Team: Mr. Smith, J. Fowler, F. Nunnenkamp, R. Barney, G. Eaton, D. Beckham, G. Moore, Ashmore, R. Holmes.
Second Team: R. Cochran, H. Chandler, B. Mansfield, D. Talent, H. Hardman, K. Owrey, R. Hacker, C. Selliken, C. Branch, W. Bishop, R. Rue Mgr.

TIGARD "SUPER-VARSITY"

This section is devoted to the boys who have given their time to basketball, but who were not far enough along as yet to play first string ball. Among these boys are fellows who in the next year or two will carry the Tigard first-string colors. The purpose of the team is to learn team work and an idea of sportsmanship. This year the boys, under Coach Smith, enjoyed a very successful season, winning 10 out of 15 games and piling up 256 points to their opponents' 207. In the future, Tigard teams look for these fellows to carry on for their Alma Mater.

BASKETBALL

Basketball season rolled round to Tigard with only three lettermen returning. However, Coach Smith pulled several cats out-of-the-bag and then:

A Green-and-white team defeated Franklin of Portland, 37-17.

Forced Washington Hi of Portland to the limit, to gain a 19-25 victory.

Again, on the home floor, trounced Franklin, 25-14.

In the fastest and wildest game in many moons, the Tigers overcame a 20 halftime lead to win from Parkrose, 28-25.

Lost a hard fought game to Hillsboro, 30-24.

Removed stigma of last year's Forest Grove defeat by winning, 35-21, to break into the county win column.

Dropped a wild return game with Parkrose, 29-26, again fighting an uphill battle in the second half.

Gained their second victory by defeating St. Mary's on the home floor, 24-19.

Won easily from Newberg on the home floor, 40-26.

Playing a good steady game Tigard defeated Beaverton, 28-17, on Beaverton's floor.

Were again defeated by Hillsboro, 21-16, on the home floor in a hard, tight contest.

Took a game from St. Stephens, 27-20, on Sacred Heart floor.

In a slow ragged game defeated Forest Grove, 20-7. Halftime score was 3-1 for Tigard.

Took St. Mary's into camp, 21-19, to virtually assure second place in the county and a trip to the district tournament.

Starting slowly, the boys gained momentum in the second half to make it two straight over Newberg, 21-13.

In the final county game, the boys played steady ball to defeat Beaverton to the tune of 25-10.

Thus the regular season ended. A very successful season, indeed, for not only did the boys win for a percentage of .750, but a team of underclassmen was developed to carry the school laurels onward. Only two in the first squad are graduating. The remainder will again see service next year.

PRAYER OF AN ATHLETE

Let my heart be bare of hate,
And devoid of any weight.

Let my tears be hard and clean,
And my sorrows swift and keen.

Make my living clear as light.
Make my dying be a right.

No beliefs and no regretting.
No delight and no begetting.

Nothing but the winged heel,
Stirring dust in transient zeal.

BASEBALL HISTORY

The 1935 baseball season opened with only two returning lettermen as a nucleus around which to develop a team. However, there was a good turnout of inexperienced men and a couple of transfers, who helped to round out a strong team. This proved that an abundance of material is available at Tigard, despite the comparative infancy of the sport at this school.

The first game of the season was played at Tualatin. The Tigers showed astonishing power with the stick, and Coach Smith was able to use all his subs and get a line on their various abilities. The final score ended 15-1 for Tigard. The Tigers pounded out a total of fifteen hits.

The second game of the season was played with the Jefferson Reserves. After a slow start in which Jeff took the lead, Tigard began finding the ball, and passed their opponents to finally win 5-3 in this game. Jefferson pounded Sims hard in the first inning, but after that the Tigers' defense tightened up, and held the Jeff boys scoreless for the remainder of the game.

The following Friday, Tigard met their arch opponent, Hillsboro, and met defeat for the first time in the season. Again it was the beginning innings that proved the undoing of the Tigers. For two innings the Tigard boys played ragged ball, and Hillsboro collected eleven runs, a lead impossible to overcome. The last seven innings of the game were tight, well played ball. The final score ended, 13-8, in Hillsboro's favor.

Tigard got revenge for their first defeat by beating Tualatin, 4-1, on Tigard's own field. The boys showed real form in this game, and errors were few and far between.

The next game was one of the biggest successes of the year, as far as the team was concerned. They broke a long standing jinx by beating Forest Grove on their own field. The boys played good ball in this game, and Sims successfully controlled the heavy sticks of the rival school. Three days later the boys again met Forest Grove, and again defeated them. The game was held on the Sherwood field before a good crowd. This game was also well played, and did a thorough job of breaking the jinx. The scores of the two games were 7-5 and 8-5, both in favor of Tigard.

The aftermath of the Forest Grove games were too much for the Tigers, and they lost a heartbreaking game to Jefferson, 2-1. The game was extremely well played and was a pitcher's duel for the entire distance. The game was marked by the lack of hard hit balls.

The last game of the season rolled around with the Tigers again facing Hillsboro. The game proved a struggle from beginning to end, with Hillsboro finally emerging victor by a 8-7 score. The game was filled with tense situations, hard hitting, and a few costly errors. With Hillsboro leading by 3 runs in the ninth, the Tigers made a valiant effort to overcome the lead, but were cut short by one run. It was a thrilling finish for a successful season.

As the 1936 season comes into view, prospects for the season are bright. Coach Smith has seven lettermen, most of them well experienced ball players, turning out for this year's team. In addition to this, he has a boy or two who have had successful seasons in fast, independent teams. The boys are all good fielders, and their power with the stick should be stronger than ever before. Two seasoned pitchers are working for positions. Backing up this group of veterans is a willing, hard working group of fellows, striving to break into the squad. As the third season of Tigard baseball comes into view, prospects are quite bright, and the proteges of the sport at Tigard have profound hope in really establishing baseball as a successful major sport in this school. The Annual of 1936 sends its heartiest support, and wishes this national sport the best of luck.

TRACK

Track was organized last year under the direction of Mr. Sievers. The squad, although small and lacking proper facilities, developed several outstanding performers. Most prominent among these was Fishburn, sprinter, who won fifteen out of sixteen starts and won the right to run in the state meet at Eugene. Earl Smith distinguished himself with the discus and shot, while Tower won his letter in the distance races. Fishburn was the most consistent performer and was chosen honorary captain at the end of the season. Meets participated in were: Washington-Columbia County meet at Hillsboro, County meet at Beaverton, and the Pacific U. Invitational and district meets, both held at Pacific.

This year track will be handled by Mr. Wunderlich. Running will be stressed more than field events to build up a squad for the future.

GOLF

Last year, for the first time, golf was made a minor sport at Tigard, under the able direction of Mr. Linn. The team produced surprising results for the first year of competition by winning from Beaverton, Parkrose, Lincoln and West Linn High Schools, where golf was well established as a sport. The crowning success was a bid to the State golf tournament held at Salem. Frank Siefert was season captain.

Prospects for '36 look exceedingly bright, with several members of the winning team of '35 returning for competition.

The Black Cat means superstition, mystery and fear

The shrills, shrieks, shouts, and fun
Will put the mysterious cat on the run.

The Advanced Public Speaking Club of 1936 presented a three act play, "Has Anyone Seen Jean?", under the direction of Mrs. Mullen, December 13, 1935.

The plot is centered around the mysterious disappearance of Jean Mallory, heiress to the Mallory estate. The young detective on the case falls in love with the girl whom he thinks is Jean, and helps her escape to the country with an old woman who is really a crook.

The band of crooks, by whom Jean is held, plan to hold her for ransom. However, Bob Link arrives in time to save her, only to discover that she is really just a common working girl.

Meanwhile the real Jean Mallory has run away, and is married to a young doctor. The crooks are captured, and the play is brought to a delightful close. Humor is provided by Acey Tuggle, a would-be detective.

The first senior play, "The Mystery House," was presented March 27, 1936, under the direction of Mrs. Mullen.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Van Orden, newlyweds, have come from their honeymoon to live in a house left to Harry by his Uncle Ignatius, on condition that it will not become his property until he has occupied it for thirty days. Of course this seems a simple procedure, but within a few hours after their arrival, bothersome relatives begin to appear and disrupt domestic tranquillity. Comedy is lent by Percy Vernon Kilbridge, a would-be poet, and much married Mrs. Merrill, who, by their eternal quibbling with the ancient Uncle Jasper, soon set everyone's nerves on edge. Two of the younger and more harmless members of the uninvited guests, Jack Hawkins and Eleanor Webster, add the love interest, and it is because of Jack that the house is finally owned by the Van Ordans, and the difficulties concerning money are straightened out. Uncle Ignatius was one of Nature's Noblemen, and his peculiarities continued to rule the household after his demise.

"Home Again Harry," the second senior play, was presented May 1, 1936, under the direction of Mrs. Mullen.

The story concerns Stuart Worthington, a fugitive bridegroom, who, on stopping at the boarding house of Mrs. Lennon, is mistaken to be her nephew, who has been away for three years. Further complications arise when the real Harry arrives home. Stuart falls in love with Mary, previously Harry's sweetheart.

Therefore, he is determined to stay, although he runs into many difficulties when Harry keeps making his appearance after Stuart has left the room.

Sir Robert and his daughter, Enid, whom Stuart left at the alter, stop to spend the night at the boarding house. They kidnap Harry, thinking him to be Stuart, and Enid marries him, but she is heart broken when she discovers she has married the wrong one.

However, wedding bells ring in the near future for Mary and Stuart, and the curtain falls on a successful and happy ending.

A comedy, entitled "Guess Again," was presented by the Dramatics Club on April 17, 1936, under the direction of Miss Nash.

Business at Edgewater Inn is practically non-existent, and the only guests are Mrs. Skinner, her daughter Dora, and Olive Ordway. Pratt, the local banker, holds the well-known mortgage on the Inn, and threatens to oust the unhappy Grimes with or without warning.

Bill, in love with Janet, sets his wits to work on the invention of a job for himself at the hotel. Lord Wiggleton of England is to arrive at the city, and about this time a queer looking duck, evidently English, registers at the Inn. A little later, another Englishman registers as Lord Wiggleton. With the news that two titled Englishmen are registered at the Inn, there is a sudden rush in business. The two Englishmen leave, and to keep up the rush in business, Bill and Waldo pose as the Lord Wiggletons.

The two real Englishmen return and the play comes to a successful and happy ending.

The seventh annual May Fete, sponsored by the student body of Tigard High School, was held May 17, 1935.

The royal procession was led by the flower girls, crown bearer, and scepter bearer, followed by the princesses accompanied by the attendants.

Gracious Queen Margaret I was escorted to the throne by Prime Minister Earl Smith.

Following the coronation, a march of the nations was presented by the girls of the high school, followed by the May Pole dance.

Luncheon was served at noon, and in the afternoon a baseball game was played between Tigard and Hillsboro High Schools.

The eventful day was brought to a delightful conclusion with the presentation of the second senior play, "Lady Lilac."

"The Lucky Jade," a two act musical comedy, was presented by the Glee Club under the direction of Miss Nash, May 15, 1936.

Horace Ferguson, a famous marksman, is a guest at the home of the Courtneys. Secretly, he is there to acquire the valuable jade ear of an old voo-doo idol. This ear is in the possession of Liza, one of the servants, and enables her to foretell future events.

A house party is given for Mary Ann, and excitement ensues when the ear suddenly disappears; and as it does not react easily in strange hands, it brings a multitude of misfortunes down upon the house.

After many complications arise, the Lucky Jade is restored to its rightful owner, the Courtney home is saved from a mortgage, and John not only wins Mary Ann, but comes in for a bit of additional good fortune as well.

CARNIVAL

Carnival signifies a great merry making, and as such it has always been in the history of our school. Our 1935 Carnival was held in November, using the theme of the holidays of the year, around which a program was woven and presented in a lively, interesting manner. New Years gave us "Auld Lang Syne" as the bell tolled the hour of twelve. Valentine gave us red hearts and a Valentine dance, danced to the strains of the song.

Washington's Birthday was characterized by patriotic selections and marches. April Fool's Day was the prize winner in interpretation—a vacated stage—omnious silence—audience sympathetic—curtain closed. May Day was symbolic of a Queen. Fourth of July again meant patriotic music. Labor Day was portrayed by hard work and opening of school. Hallowe'en, with all of its mystery, was developed through black-faced comedians full of fun and mystery. The spirit of Thanksgiving Day was brought out by a playlet, designed to teach that there is always something to be thankful for. Then came Christmas Day, and poor father lamented the fact that he was the goat, with all the joy taken out of Christmas because he had to pay the bills.

The holidays also provided a scheme for booth decorations, and the ideas were cleverly executed by the decoration committee.

The booths contained wares of all description and sold rapidly for fair prices, especially the delectables of the food booth. The evening was brought to a successful climax by the pleasure of dancing, with both young and old participating.

Our 1935 School Carnival was a success socially and financially.

The Carnival is a home coming for our alumnae, and a reunion of several classes was held at the Green Fir Cafe.

May the future classes develop and carry on the Carnival that has meant so much to all former students.

SHADOWS OF THE PAST

SENIOR DANCE

The Lover sighs—"If music be the food of love, play on."

The seniors held their annual sport dance on October 30. The decorations followed the harvest idea. Good music, a good crowd, and a good time.

The Witch shrieks—"Laugh and laugh and laugh!—

The student body participated in presenting the traditional Carnival on November 25. "The Parade of the Holidays" followed in both decorations and program. A fun loving crowd made merry, and succeeded in making the Carnival a great success.

GIRLS' LEAGUE BAZAAR

The Fates cry—"You are doomed to toil and spin."

On December 11, the Girls' League held a bazaar, which was attended by many Christmas shoppers. Attractively decorated booths contained gifts kindly made and donated by the girls. There was a program, and coffee and cake were served.

ADVANCED PUBLIC SPEAKING PLAY

The Ghost groans—"Who'll solve the mystery"—?

"Has Anyone Seen Jean?", a three act mystery play was presented by the advanced Public Speaking Club on December 13. From beginning to end, there were plenty of thrills and suspense. An appreciative audience lauded the performance of an appreciative cast.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

Banfuo says—"Who is the uninvited guest at the banquet?

A dinner was given in honor of the football teams and their fathers, by the boy's mothers on December 18. After the dinner, short speeches were given by all the guests. Everyone had an enjoyable evening concluding a successful football season.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

The Wind whispers—"Be at peace with the world"—

A beautiful pageant of the Christmas story was presented by the Dramatics Club and the Glee Club. Awards were received by Commercial students, and letters were received by the football men. Greetings were exchanged as everyone welcomed the Christmas vacation.

MOTHER'S PARTY

The Gourmand says—"Eat and be merry."

The members of the Girl's League gave a party honoring their mothers on February 12. There was a program consisting of music, a play, and speeches by the girls, both preceding and during refreshments.

JUNIOR PROM

The Fairies say—"Come, one and all, dance round your queen"—

A Valentine Junior Prom was presented by the entire junior class on February 15. Queen Ethel Kilpatrick reigned over a merry, musical kingdom, and her willing subjects joyfully responded to the inspiring music of the orchestra.

SENIOR PLAY

The Cat yowls—"I am Ignatius's Ghost."

The first senior play, "The Mystery House," was presented under the able direction of Mrs. Mullen on March 27. The play lived up to its name and provided many thrills, as well as laughs for the audience. The cast portrayed their parts well and the play was a great success.

APRIL SENIOR CLASS DAY

The Skeleton pleads—"Cover me with bright garments."

The Seniors of '36 held their class day April 1. Class day is traditionally a dress up day, and the various variegated, villianous costumes carried out the theme of Superstition. A splendid program was held, and stunt pictures were taken for the year book.

DRAMATICS PLAY

The Englishman cries—"Alerta Estoy"!

On April 15, the Dramatics Club presented "Guess Again," a light comedy, under the direction of Miss Nash. The fast moving situations were witnessed and enjoyed by an appreciative audience.

MAY FETE

The Clown jibes—"Hey Queen! A Mouse"!

May 1, 1936, was ruled by Queen Virginia I and Prime Minister Jack Blankinship with two attendants from each class.

The theme of the May Fete was brought out in dances given by the grade schools. A lunch was served at noon, a baseball game in the afternoon, and the senior play, "Home Again, Harry," closed an enjoyable day.

SENIOR PLAY

The Fool replies—"Laughter cures worry."

The second senior play, "Home again Harry," also under the direction of Mrs. Mullen, was presented May 1. This comedy was enthusiastically received by a large audience and was enjoyed by everyone.

OPERETTA

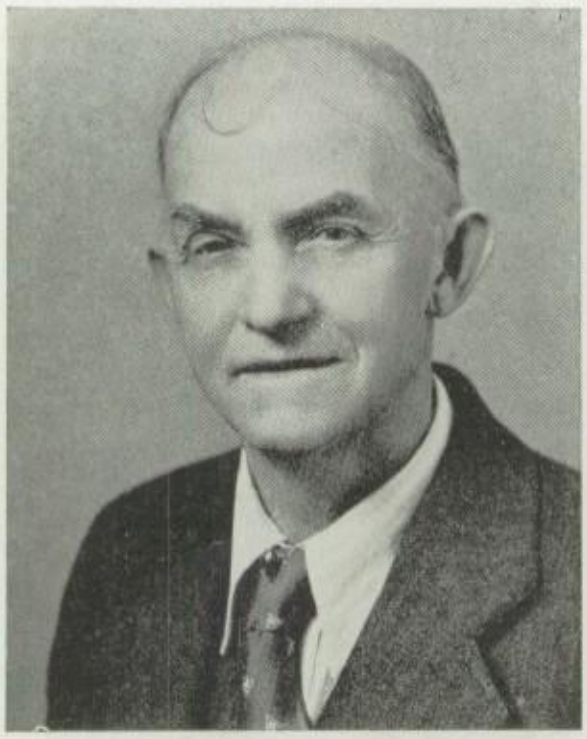
The Dragon answers—"Jade will bring luck."

On May 15, the operetta "The Lucky Jade" directed by Miss Nash was presented by the Glee Club. Mystery, comedy, and good music united to make a very successful performance which the audience enjoyed.

COMMENCEMENT

The Owl hoots—"Who are you, where are you going?"

Commencement exercises were held the evening of May 29th. The class numbered 69 graduates. The girls were beautiful in their gowns of various hues. The boys looked somewhat serious in their formal attire. The class motto is: "Out of School Life; Into Life's School." May we live up to its teachings and be useful citizens. Our school days have been pleasant. May we say "Adios", "Au Revoir", and "Good Bye".



MR. ALSPAUGH

We like a pleasant person, who greets us with a cheery good morning—who is ready to help teacher or pupil find that elusive lost object, and yet wear a smile.

We like to hear the swish of the broom or the knock of the hammer, for we know that our friend is nearby, and is not distributed by our noise any more than we are by his.

There are many qualities that are likeable in the person whom we are writing about. Can you not guess that his name is Mr. Alspaugh?

A MESSAGE

Many of the thoughts are original—some were bargained for—and maybe—a few were stolen, while the parentage of others have been acknowledged before the whole world. Credit has been freely given where credit was found to be due.

To the compilers the thoughts wre worthy to be "bunched." All who believe with them that the Book at its worst is as good as they could make it, we thank you. The compilers' mission was to get the best out of all articles presented. And they are grateful to the persons who have produced such splendid thoughts to be stored in the Memory Book.

Sincerely,

Myrtle Mullen
